

ABSTRACT

A separation membrane for a battery includes a number of composite layers (10) attached to each other with adhesive (12). Each composite layer includes a number of molecular layers (14). Each molecular layer comprises carbon atoms (2), and lithium ions (3) intercalated therein.